Descendants of G2 Great Grandfather William Tyrrell

First Generation

1. G2 Great Grandfather William Tyrrell was born circa 1827 in Inchicore, Ireland and died on 28 Sep 1887 in Goldenbridge (Dublin), Ireland about age 60.

General Notes: The burial record record for William Tyrrell listed a Monica Sherry, a niece, as providing the information. There is a record of a Monica Tyrrell marrying a James Sherry on the same day a Patrick Tyrrell married an Ellen Sherry. It appears a brother and sister married a brother and sister. However their ages suggest they were born early 1840s and a search of online records so far digitized shows twins Patrick and Monica Tyrrell born 1833. These families appear to be in Dublin after 1900. However, because of doubt with their births, a search continued on Rathmines Parish Register (south of Goldenbridge and not digitized) but very few Tyrrells were listed per its index. Further research would need to be conducted.

NY shows a death record for William Tyrrell wife Anna DaVerne and daughter Francis. There's no date and there's no other information to suggest that William came to NY and died there.

Noted events in his life were:

- He resided at 2 Richmond Street in 1875 in Goldenbridge (Dublin), Ireland.
- He worked at a blacksmith in 1882 in Glasgow (Lanarkshire County), Scotland.
- He resided at 3 Byrnes Cottages in 1887 in Goldenbridge (Dublin), Ireland.

Marriage Notes: William Tyrrell to Margaret O'Reilly in Finglas Roman Catholic Parish, the bride's maid was Monica Tyrrell. It's possible that O'Reilly was transcribed incorrectly. A Monica Tyrrell immigrated to New York in 1880 and lived with Frances Tyrrell

General Notes: Paid for her nephews Jerome, Francis and Robert Patrick, sons of Patrick, to come to the U.S. and then disinherited them. Documents show various years of birth, but they all show her being born on 12 December. William married Margaret in 1853 so Francis would have been born before then.
